Class Description:

This class helps Human Resource professionals understand their fiduciary liabilities and responsibilities and gives them the knowledge to help employees better understand the company benefits, budgeting, and basic financial management. It provides the Human Resource professional the tools to educate their employees to take responsibility for their own financial wellness and security, which will increase morale and productivity without increasing company costs.

Heartland Institute of Financial Education invites you to take part in one of their financial education classes. As a national non-profit, their focus is on your education and getting your questions answered. They are endorsed as a "Best Provider" by the Personal Finance Employee Education Foundation, www.pfeef.org The Heartland Institute partners with colleges and universities to offer financial wellness classes for Human Resource Professionals as well as their employees.
