LONG TERM DEVELOPMENT PLAN FOR THE UCCS CAMPUS IN THE NORTH PROPERTY

Presentation will give an update on the current UCCS Master Planning process.

Speaker

Gary L. Reynolds, P.E., University of Colorado Colorado Springs

Mr. Reynolds is currently the Executive Director of Facilities Services at the University of Colorado Colorado Springs. Mr. Reynolds has been involved with higher education facilities for 30 years at both private and public institutions. He holds a BS in Engineering Science and an MS in Mechanical Engineering from Iowa State University. Mr. Reynolds spent 16 years at Iowa State University and 10 at Colorado College before coming to UCCS in 2007, and developed a well-regarded expertise in campus facilities management, planning, design, environmental health and safety and transportation. After 30 years of conceiving, developing and delivering his vision for capital construction and facilities management on three university campuses, it is the title "teacher" that resonates most in his life. At his alma mater, Iowa State University, he taught HVAC design and thermodynamics and other classes, and now seeks those "aha" moments among the Colorado students who are learning from his experience, whether it be on campus, on the ski slopes, or in the cockpit of an airplane or glider soaring above the Rockies.
